A NOTE FROM THE HEART - BHAVNA AKA STORY AUNTY

🙏 Namaste

💖 I'm Bhavna, an educator with experience of over 25 years in English Language teaching and training. Besides this, I am a founding author and narration artist for the Readable App and a writer for National Geographic Learning and a storyteller.

💖 Most importantly, I'm the heart behind Learning Sutra, a passion project born out of my love for meaningful learning. My goal is to support parents and educators in sparking meaningful conversations with children and build stronger relationships. I founded Learning Sutra with a simple belief and a strong conviction that learning should prepare children for life. To accomplish this vision and mission, I create simple, creative resources called Spark Sheets that offer Language and Life lessons for kids 8 and above. I also run online interactive storybased programmes for kids where I help children build strong English skills while also learning to understand and express their emotions with confidence.

Children today need more than academics; they need empathy, resilience, and emotional strength. Learning Sutra resources are designed to help kids understand big feelings, face challenges, and grow into kinder, more sensitive humans. Through thought-provoking stories on my YouTube channel StoryLand By Learning Sutra, printables like theme-based activity sheets and clue-based games exploring real-world themes like conflict, crisis, and inequality, Learning Sutra resources help children build English skills while also developing empathy, resilience, and curiosity for an increasingly unpredictable world.

Explore our full collection on the website thelearningsutra.com — each resource is a step toward raising emotionally strong, compassionate children. You'll find a lot more on our Instagram page @TheLearningSutra. It's a space for parents and educators who want to raise kind, curious, and inclusive kids everyday.
